Partner at The Hechtman Group Participates in Program to Help Local Entrepreneurs

Jordan Werblow, Partner at the Hechtman Group (THG), announced that he is a member of the Loan Committee at the Duman Microenterprise Center which supports local business entrepreneurs. The micro loans made through the Center are made possible through an endowment to Jewish Vocational Services and a grant from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity. The Center partners with local banks, government agencies, business professionals, business schools, and the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Chicago to help existing small businesses grow.

Werblow says, "The Duman Microenterprise Center focuses on providing small business entrepreneurs with training and education, mentoring and access to capital. The Loan Committee provides guidance and decisions about capital. I am deeply committed to this work and the results we produce. Small business plays a vital role in our local and national economy and it is a joy to help entrepreneurs get access to this special source of capital when they most need it".
